

2011 Aboriginal Health Care Conference

Aboriginal Health Care: Governance and Leadership October 27 & 28, 2011 Victoria Inn Hotel & Convention Centre • Thunder Bay, ON

The need to continuously improve the Canadian health care system is a constant, specifically in Aboriginal health care. This October 27, join us to learn from experts, including the Deputy Grand Chief Mike Metatawabin from NAN; Gail Boehme, CEO, All Nations' Healing Hospital & FHQ Health Services from Fort Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan; Don Jones from the National Centre for First Nations Governance and David Murray, CEO, Sioux Lookout Meno Ya Win Health Centre, to find out what they are doing to improve the quality and coordination of care in Aboriginal health, while creating a strategic vision for long term success.

This year's conference will examine how Aboriginal health care leaders and partners are working together to sustain and honour traditional values and work within an integrated model.

Don't miss out on finding new ways of working together and planning and delivering health care services in the Aboriginal community!

The conference will also feature Health Care Exhibitor Booths, showcasing innovation and best practices in Aboriginal Health.
