BEEDIE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY

Executive MBA in Aboriginal Business and Leadership

Are you responsible for providing leadership in an Aboriginal organization?
Is it part of your job to work effectively between non-Aboriginal and Aboriginal organizations?
Are you interested in building an Aboriginal business for yourself or for your community?

If you feel that understanding business and management will help you, your organization or community to achieve independence and well-being, consider a challenging program that recognizes the unique circumstances of Aboriginal people in Canada.

The flexible Aboriginal Business and Leadership EMBA Program - geared for adult learners - includes the core concepts and knowledge included in most MBA programs, but it does so in a way that respects Aboriginal knowledge.

If you are interested in learning more about the exciting Simon Fraser University's Beedie School of Business Aboriginal Executive Master of Business Administration, join Mark Selman, Program Director at an information session to introduce this innovative program:
