

2013 National Mental Health Conference

Explore the challenges faced in the Justice System, Education System, and the Aboriginal Community

March 19 - 21, 2013

Delta Hotel • Winnipeg, Manitoba

The 3rd annual National Mental Health Conference will offer 12 exciting sessions, each facilitated by a distinguished speaker as well as knowledgeable and interesting Keynote Speakers. There will also be 4 pre-conference workshops on March 19th.

- Topics:
1. Mental Health Challenges and the Justice System
 2. Mental Health Challenges and Aboriginal Communities
 3. Mental Health Challenges in the Education System
 4. Mental Health Challenges in Society Today

Objectives:

- Reveal the profile of mental health and wellness challenges in the justice system, in the school system, and in Aboriginal communities
- Create a knowledge-based environment where delegates from across these sectors can learn from each other's research, skills, and experience as a way to promote mental health and prevent disorders in all settings
- Promote action and encourage further development of mental health programs within our justice system, school system, and Aboriginal communities
- Develop and enhance stakeholder partnerships

Who Should Attend:

- Aboriginal organizations
- Teachers, district administrators, and those involved in the education of mental health
- Justice organizations
- Healthcare managers
- Researchers
- Health and safety specialists
- Educators
- Policy makers in the local, provincial, federal government
- Professionals, managers, and practitioners in health and social care, education, industry, and private and public sectors
