The Aboriginal Workplace Learning Circle uses a holistic approach to learning. This approach incorporates indigenous perspectives into modern day workplaces.

Aboriginal Workplace Learning Circle

- Introducing Essential Skills that people need for learning, work and life
- Medicine Wheel teachings to create balance in your home, and work life
- Discover and overcome your barriers to successful employment
- Create a personal plan to succeed in the workplace, school and at home
- Understanding workplace diversity, culture and etiquette
- Strengthening positive communication skills verbal and non verbal
- Discover your learning styles to enhance your personal learning potential

Upon successful completion of Aboriginal Work Place Learning Circle, participants will have developed a streamlined plan for returning to work, training, or educational pursuits.

Participants who are ready to return to the workforce upon completion of the Aboriginal Work Place Learning Circle will automatically be accepted into our JOB CLUB, which is a group assisted program designed to find you the most suitable job in the shortest amount of time.

Community Futures Treaty Seven

The Aboriginal Workplace Learning Circle is being provided to Aboriginal people in Calgary through a special partnership with the Further Education Society, Community Futures Treaty 7, and the Aboriginal Futures Career and Training Centre.
